

Amusements Co-Night

Table listing various theatrical performances and their locations, including Grand Opera House, Lyceum Theatre, and others.

Index to Advertisements

Table listing various advertisements and their corresponding page numbers.

Business Notices

ALDERNEY BRAND - Carpets - Great production, 300 pieces Velvet...

DESS AND OFFICE FURNITURE - In great variety...

CURTAINS - Special sale, 500 pairs Turkish Curtains...

WEEKLY TRIBUNE - NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS - All advertisements...

TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE - Published free in the United States...

New-York Daily Tribune

FOUNDED BY HORACE GREELEY - NEW-YORK, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 10

THE NEWS THIS MORNING

FOREIGN - Serious anti-Jewish riots occurred at Agram, Hungary, on Saturday...

CITY AND TRIBUNE - A Russian was arrested on Saturday who had stolen $6,000 from his employer in Moscow...

THE WEATHER - Tribune local observations indicate clear and fair and cool weather...

Behold another victim of misplaced confidence in America and her free institutions. A young Russian who recently stole 12,000 roubles from his employer in Moscow...

Mr. Porter's letter on Industrial Germany, which we publish on another page this morning, throws light on the complications of the silk industry of the world.

his statements, however, will show that Mr. Porter speaks on authority which cannot be successfully disputed.

Little or none of the public money of this city is spent to better advantage than that which goes annually to pay the fifty extra physicians of the Health Department for their services among the poor people in our tenement-houses.

CONFIDENCE ABOUT OHIO. The political changes this year have been remarkable in their rapidity and completeness.

At this time, too, the sky is very bright. The principal question in Democratic circles is whether their candidate in Ohio can be got out of the way in such fashion as to leave them a chance for success.

It is well understood that a sweeping Republican victory in Ohio would have a great influence upon the Presidential election.

A very decisive victory in Ohio would have a powerful influence in New-York and New-Jersey, in Indiana, and in some Southern States.

THE MURDER OF ROSE CLARK.

The mysterious murder at Stratford, Conn., has attracted the usual cloud of detectives, amateur and professional, which gathers about the scene of any crime that arouses widespread public interest.

how absurd or inconsistent with the indisputable evidence their premature hypothesis may be, they will cling to it tenaciously, shutting their eyes to everything which tends to disprove it.

With many theories that the many investigators are following, and with the confusion and uncertainty that have attended the progress of the inquiry, the murder of Rose Clark seems not unlikely to remain as deep in obscurity as that of Jennie Cramer.

Some of the journals that have been printing in their correspondence glowing tributes to the character of Rose Clark, in which her virtues and heroic qualities were exalted without stint, have been sadly imposed upon, for it has been shown beyond doubt that she was wanted, and it is probable that her relations with the cowardly cur Lewis were begun even before her divorce from Ambler.

ESQUIRE CAMPBELL'S VIEW. The Muse of History will make the mistake of her life if when she comes to make the record of the present political period she does not write very high up in the list of statesmen the name of Esquire Timothy J. Campbell.

Business improved perceptibly last week, both here and in other cities, though the general tendency of prices was not favorable to speculation in products, and the proportion of legitimate business done was evidently larger than usual.

The current statements as to injury to corn by frost are exceedingly conflicting. Telegrams from Chicago say that the injury has been insignificant, and a survey in The Chicago Tribune affirms that a yield of 1,500,000,000 bushels is already secured.

PERSONAL. Newport is now quite altogether positive that President Arthur will be there this week for a short visit.

The annual review of the cotton crop by The Financial Chronicle makes the yield of 1882 larger by 403,000 bales than that of any previous year.

delegations before "the country men" and let them decide whom to admit.

SOUTHERN GOVERNORS ON THE TARIFF.

A Southern paper has been printing interviews with the Governors of various States in that section upon the general subject of prosperity and prospects, and two of them gave, incidentally, their views upon the tariff.

Governor McEnery says he believes "in a taxation for revenue, but incidental protection." "Every State," he thinks, "ought to try in making the tariff less to discriminate so as to encourage independence of foreign products and supplies."

Another snarl for the Democratic Legislature of 1883. The General Assembly has just adopted a resolution enjoining Governor Cleveland and State Treasurer Maxwell, but leaving the Legislature severely alone.

The Boston Herald thinks it would be fair for the Republican press to tell what the Democratic quarrel is about and when side it won. With pleasure. The quarrel is about John Kelly and you are on both sides, with a mental reservation in favor of each one of them.

NEWPORT. Newport is now quite altogether positive that President Arthur will be there this week for a short visit.

The consecration sermon of the new Bishop of Ararat and the Isles was preached by Canon McColl in Gaelic probably the first time a sermon has been delivered in that tongue on such an occasion since the disestablishment of the Episcopal Church in Scotland.

The Rev. H. R. Haws has taken a long lease of the late Dante Gabriel Rossetti's house in London. The property belongs to the Earl of Cadogan, who expressly stipulates that no structural alterations shall be made.

and as in addition to the plebeian achievements by which he has won fame, Mr. Herkomer is constantly working in bronze and silver, and in engraving, etching from his own designs, they will really be exceptionally fortunate.

The financial situation continues undisturbed, though the surplus reserve of the banks dropped to $4,487,500. It is larger now, however, than it has been at this date in any other year since resumption, except in 1880.

Governor McEnery says he believes "in a taxation for revenue, but incidental protection." "Every State," he thinks, "ought to try in making the tariff less to discriminate so as to encourage independence of foreign products and supplies."

Manufacturing, the signs are more favorable, especially in iron. Without much change in prices, there has been a decided increase in orders, so that an increasing number of establishments find full employment.

A suggestion to the New-York Greenback party; in case "The New-York Cab Company (limited)" gets fairly going by November you had better secure one of its vehicles to take you to the polls.

There are differences of opinion among Kentucky Democrats upon matters of taste if not upon questions of principle. Mr. Joseph C. Blackburn, announcing the other day his withdrawal from the contest for Speaker, took particular pains to say that he did so because he was a candidate for United States Senator and proposing to throw all his energy into that struggle.

Another snarl for the Democratic Legislature of 1883. The General Assembly has just adopted a resolution enjoining Governor Cleveland and State Treasurer Maxwell, but leaving the Legislature severely alone.

PERSONAL. Newport is now quite altogether positive that President Arthur will be there this week for a short visit.

The consecration sermon of the new Bishop of Ararat and the Isles was preached by Canon McColl in Gaelic probably the first time a sermon has been delivered in that tongue on such an occasion since the disestablishment of the Episcopal Church in Scotland.

The Rev. H. R. Haws has taken a long lease of the late Dante Gabriel Rossetti's house in London. The property belongs to the Earl of Cadogan, who expressly stipulates that no structural alterations shall be made.

The story has been related of the Hon. Hannibal Hamlin that once, in his active political days, he attended a party caucus at which there was only one man present beside himself. He promptly elected the other man chairman, had himself appointed secretary, and then transacted all the business in hand; and when he made out the credentials of the delegates chosen, he wrote in them that the delegates were elected at a "large and respectable caucus."

and as in addition to the plebeian achievements by which he has won fame, Mr. Herkomer is constantly working in bronze and silver, and in engraving, etching from his own designs, they will really be exceptionally fortunate.

The financial situation continues undisturbed, though the surplus reserve of the banks dropped to $4,487,500. It is larger now, however, than it has been at this date in any other year since resumption, except in 1880.

Governor McEnery says he believes "in a taxation for revenue, but incidental protection." "Every State," he thinks, "ought to try in making the tariff less to discriminate so as to encourage independence of foreign products and supplies."

Manufacturing, the signs are more favorable, especially in iron. Without much change in prices, there has been a decided increase in orders, so that an increasing number of establishments find full employment.

A suggestion to the New-York Greenback party; in case "The New-York Cab Company (limited)" gets fairly going by November you had better secure one of its vehicles to take you to the polls.

There are differences of opinion among Kentucky Democrats upon matters of taste if not upon questions of principle. Mr. Joseph C. Blackburn, announcing the other day his withdrawal from the contest for Speaker, took particular pains to say that he did so because he was a candidate for United States Senator and proposing to throw all his energy into that struggle.

PERSONAL. Newport is now quite altogether positive that President Arthur will be there this week for a short visit.

The consecration sermon of the new Bishop of Ararat and the Isles was preached by Canon McColl in Gaelic probably the first time a sermon has been delivered in that tongue on such an occasion since the disestablishment of the Episcopal Church in Scotland.

The Rev. H. R. Haws has taken a long lease of the late Dante Gabriel Rossetti's house in London. The property belongs to the Earl of Cadogan, who expressly stipulates that no structural alterations shall be made.